Quarterly Business Review

Q3 2026 * Acme Corporation

Executive Summary

Acme Corporation delivered a strong third quarter, with revenue growing across all three business segments. The enterprise division led the way, driven by multi-year contract renewals and expansion within existing accounts. Management attributes the performance to disciplined execution and continued investment in the platform.

Operating margin expanded by two hundred basis points year-over-year as automation initiatives reduced manual processing costs. The company onboarded forty-two new enterprise customers during the quarter, including three Fortune 500 accounts. Churn remained below two percent, the lowest level in company history.

Key Performance Indicators

Performance against plan for the quarter ended September 30, 2026:

Metric	Q3 2026	Q3 2025	Change
Revenue	$12.4M	$10.1M	+22.8%
Gross margin	71.2%	69.4%	+1.8pp
Enterprise customers	312	270	+42
Net churn	1.8%	2.4%	-0.6pp
Cash on hand	$18.9M	$14.2M	+33.1%

Findings

Looking ahead to the fourth quarter, management expects seasonal strength in the retail segment and continued momentum in enterprise. Guidance for full-year revenue was raised to between $48.2M and $49.5M. The board approved a $5M share repurchase program, reflecting confidence in the company's cash generation.

Methodology

Figures in this report are derived from the company's ERP system and have been reconciled to the general ledger. Year-over-year comparisons use constant currency. Customer counts exclude trial accounts with less than 30 days of tenure.

Appendix

Detailed segment breakdowns, regional splits, and the full chart pack are available in the accompanying spreadsheet. Questions about this report should be directed to investor relations at ir@acme-corp.example.com.